Column One BY David Courtney

MANY democracies nowadays have to make do with stop-gap governments. It is probable, indeed, that we have come historically to the era of stop-gap governments and that countries like France and Italy are without our knowing it, in the political van and not the political rear. The idea is put forward without much ado and is merely as an amiable explanation of the odd devices which pass in so many countries for democratic government. Whether Democracy itself has reached a stop-gap stage in its evolution may also be worth speculative thought. There are times when it looks like it.

HOWEVER that may be, it seems likely that Italy is passing from one stop-gap government to another. It is that, in France, stable, full-term government in accordance with existing constitutional prescription will become a thing of the past. Signor Scelba, Signor Fanfani, Signor Piccoli or Signor Pella should be charged by the President with the formal setting up of the new coalition Government.

AS matters stand, the policy worked out under the shrewd direction of Signor De Gasperi should satisfy the multiple wings of the Christian Democratic party as well as the left-centre Socialists and the right-centre Liberals and Republicans. The trouble all along has been Signor Saragat's insistence, as the price of his support of the clericalist Christian Democrats, on a measure of social reform real enough to compel Signor Nenni to show where he stands, and on electoral reform along extreme proportional representation lines which, if it had existed at the last elections, would have given the Saragat following 27 seats instead of 13. It looks now as if he has got his promise of electoral reform if not of the extensive social reform he wanted as well. Final agreement between the four parties concerning the award of seats with the Prime Minister-designate; but there is good reason for supposing that this is no more than a formality.

WHAT is most interesting about the situation is the effort made by Signor De Gasperi, as encountered by the Christian Democrats, to appease his left wing and pacify his right. Concessions to the left wing were made not only in interests of party unity and to ensure a parliamentary majority through Signor Saragat's nineteen votes, but also to foil the "conciliation" mania of the left, which is believed to be working to detach the Saragat Socialists from their wavering alliance with the clericalist, Christian Democrats, and to form a Popular Front Government. The question now is whether the programme makes concessions enough to the left wing, and especially to Signor Saragat, who, in the last election, lost votes heavily because he was considered to be a satellite of the Christian Democrats. It seems unlikely that he will get enough out of any new Government to cancel out the job.

THAT may be no matter. If stop-gap governments are to be the rule and not the exception, and this to be a transitional period towards bigger and better Democracy, the cost may not be too great. If, on the other hand, there are to be merely as an example of Parliamentary weakness — or rather of the weakness of the present party system — then the outlook may become mournful to everyone except Signor Nenni and, more so, Signor Togliatti.

US Not to Send Pilots to Help in Indo-China

WASHINGTON, Tuesday (UP). — Defense Secretary Charles Wilson declared emphatically today that no American pilots will be sent to fight in Indo-China.

Mr. Wilson also told a news conference that a military victory over the Vietnamese without direct American intervention is "highly doubtful and probable."

He did say, however, that Lt. Gen. John O'Daniel, Commander of U.S. Air Force in the Pacific, "might be sent" to Indo-China. Presumably he would head a new U.S. military mission in discussing what Gen. O'Daniel will do after completing conference here with the Joint Chiefs of Staff and high civilian officials.

Mr. Wilson's statement that no American pilot will be sent to Indo-China followed disclosure that France had asked this country for transport pilots to bolster its air communications — a move that would have put American airmen closer than ever before to actual combat operations in the Indo-China war.

State and Defense Department officials were understood to have raised a strong objection on grounds that the action might commit the U.S. too deeply in the struggle and produce serious political repercussions.

In a generally optimistic appraisal of the Indo-China situation, Mr. Wilson said that a military victory is "perhaps both possible and probable." But he added that there is a "question of who shows up," a reference to possible aid from China. That, he said, would "definitely" pose a "different problem."

He then stated that China's ability to supply the Vietnamese is "very limited" because of poor rail and water transport.

SPEARHEADS ADVANCE

PARIS, Tuesday. — Vietnamese spearheads today are only 20 kilometres from the royal Lao town of Luang Prabang, according to reports received here. Scouts inched to within 10 kilometres before encountering the bunker-studded defence perimeter which is counted on to stop the attackers.

In Hanoi, a military spokesman said "several battalions" of new troops have been airlifted from there to the threatened capital to augment the mixed force of Foreign Legionnaires, French paratroopers, North Vietnamese and 12,000-man Royal Army of Laos. (Reuters, UP)

Gov't Confirms Terms Of P.E.C. Transfer Agreement

The final stage in purchasing Palestine Electric Corporation shares will be entered into today, as the Government will send official notification of its plans to the company.

The letter will be signed by the Minister of Development, Dr. Dov Joseph, and the Minister of Finance, Mr. Levi Eshkol, official sources told The Jerusalem Post.

According to a spokesman, the terms are those adopted by the Cabinet on January 10.

These were:

For each British-held share in the P.E.C. the Government will pay 20% shillings (registered value £1) over a seven-and-a-half-year period beginning October, 1954. The notes to be issued guaranteeing the payment will bear 4% annual interest.

Locally held shares will be bought for 2.50, Israeli dollars plus IL1.400. These payments will be made in six semi-annual instalments, also from October. The purchase date has been extended from March 31 to April 15, it was said.

'Lawyers' Forum' in Knesset

Jerusalem Post Knesset Reporter

The Knesset became something of a "lawyers' forum" yesterday as it discussed at length a series of technical bills which drew few members into the House beside the Knesset's legal practitioners. The bills were: an amendment to the Magistrates Courts Ordinance, an amendment to the Administrator General Ordinance, and an amendment to the Basic Law of Administration and Jurisdiction.

Minister of Justice Pinhas Rosen, who on Monday wound up the debate on the amendment giving wider powers to Magistrates Courts, said that he would like to introduce changes in the bill when it comes to committee, for the draft was nothing but an illogical compromise between opposing doctrines.

According to Mr. Rosen, Magistrates should be given jurisdiction over all misdemeanors, while District Courts would have to deal with felony cases. The police would thus no longer have the choice of bringing the accused either to the Magistrate or the District Court, according to the degree of punishment which the accused is considered likely to get.

Civil Claims

Mr. Rosen thought inadvisable to refer to the Magistrate all civil claims up to IL1,000, as suggested by some critics: statistics compiled last year showed that most cases before the District Courts concerned claims of between IL500 and IL1,000. The bill stipulates that claims up to IL500 only will be in the Magistrate's jurisdiction.

Mr. Rosen also opposed the suggestion to refer all landowner disputes to the District Courts, for fear of the case being sent to the Magistrate at present.

Spain Not Recognizing French Morocco Sultan

MADRID, Tuesday (UP). — Generalissimo Francisco Franco declared today that Spain refuses to recognize the new French-supported Sultan of Morocco and considers the Caliph of Spanish Morocco to be sovereign in the Spanish zone.

French Assembly To Air Spanish Stand

PARIS, Tuesday (Reuters). — Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Maurice Schuman, today announced that the National Assembly would debate the situation in Spanish Morocco on March 5.

Mr. Schuman said that the debate could not be held earlier because of the absence of Foreign Minister Bidault, who is attending the Berlin conference.

"In face of the inadmissible attitude of the Spanish authorities," France has shown both moderation and firmness," he added.

M. Schuman was replying to M. Arthur Conte, a Socialist member of the Assembly's Foreign Affairs Committee, who asked how the Government planned to meet the untiring hostility of Spain towards the French Republic.

90-Km. Gale Sweeps Haifa

Torrential rains whipped by sharp gusts of wind, which blew at 90 kilometres an hour at Haifa, swept the city yesterday with lightning, were the lot of the entire hill region yesterday.

An improvement in the weather is expected today, especially in south and central Israel, although early morning showers are still likely.

In Jerusalem, 30 mm. of rain fell in the 24 hours preceding 8 p.m. yesterday, and continued.

Killed by Lightning

Haj Ali Saleh Bushari, 67, of Abu Ghosh, was killed instantly when he was struck by lightning at noon yesterday. He was returning home from work in the fields.

to pour down until well after midnight. In the same period in Mt. Caman, 88 mm. fell. About 6 mm. fell in the central Negev, but only traces were noted in Ellat.

The Meteorological Services told The Jerusalem Post yesterday that the inclement weather was caused by:

"A deep depression which had been covering the western and central Mediterranean for the past five days, approached the eastern Mediterranean yesterday. Its southern end was responsible for the last rain storm as it passed the area. The depression is now almost stationary between Cyprus and Crete and is filling with an expected improvement in the weather."

US GIFT ARMS, NOT SALES WORRY ISRAEL

WASHINGTON, Tuesday (INA). — Israel is concerned with the possibility of the free supply of U.S. arms to the Arab states within the framework of the American foreign aid programme, and not with the purchase of arms by the Arab States through commercial channels, Israeli circles pointed out here.

They were commenting on a State Department statement denying any discrimination against Israel as compared with the Arab States in the issue of U.S. arms export licenses.

The State Department, however, has refused to disclose figures to substantiate its claim that the same export licenses have been issued to Israel than to the Arab States. Only the President, the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Defense are authorized to disclose such figures, the State Department has said.

20-Man Oil Mission To Study Iran Fields

LONDON, Tuesday (UP). — An expert oil mission took off tonight for Iran for a quick inspection trip to precede a larger Western effort to get Iranian oil on the market again and bolster the strategic Middle Eastern country against Communist infiltration.

The 20-man mission, including experts from five American oil companies, will estimate just how much money it will take to put the rich Iranian oil back into production after nearly three years of idleness.

The American companies probably will have to put up most of the money — an estimated several hundred million dollars.

The 20 experts will be in Iran from one to two weeks inspecting the great refinery at Abadan and the pipes bringing the oil from the fields to the head of the Persian Gulf. Then they will report back to the eight companies negotiating here to form a consortium or partnership to bring Iranian oil to the world markets again.

Far Eastern Parley May Follow Berlin Talks — Churchill

LONDON, Tuesday (UP). — Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill said today that there may be another conference on the Far East after the Big Four Foreign Ministers' conference in Berlin.

The Prime Minister made the statement while defending the presence of American air bases in Britain.

Left-wing Labourite Tom Driberg demanded to know whether the danger of Britain's close ties with America was not intensified by the "aggressive tendencies" of Chinese Nationalist leader Chiang Kai-shek and South Korean President Syngman Rhee in the Far East, in view of the mutual assistance pact between Russia and People's China. He demanded whether America should not consult Britain more.

"These matters are being discussed by the Foreign Ministers in Berlin," Sir Winston said, and then added:

"Possibly there will be a further conference."

Both the Premier and former Labour Ministers defending U.S. air bases in Britain against hostile questions by left-wing Labourites.

"As I previously informed the House, the American bases will continue so long as they are needed in the interests of world security," Sir Winston told Mr. Driberg.

UN Won't Divulge Jordan Reply; 'Diplomatic Moves' Still On

NEW YORK, Tuesday (Reuters). — U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld last night declined to divulge the contents of Jordan's second reply to the U.N. regarding the bilateral conference proposed by the U.N. under Article 14 of the Armistice Agreement. He explained this as being due to the fact that diplomatic moves were still taking place regarding the conference.

Unofficial reports, however, said that Jordan had rejected a demand for a meeting with Israel today, it was revealed that the Jordan reply had said that her Mixed Armistice Commission representatives were not ready to meet Israeli delegates at any time at MAC headquarters.

The note, sent on Sunday, and released by the Jordan Foreign Ministry, was similar to the first sent on January 4. Then Jordan had stated that she was prepared to conduct a meeting with Israel within the MAC framework.

Dr. Hussein Fakhr al Khaldi, Jordan Foreign Minister, in releasing the note, stated that he wished the spirit which prompted the Secretary-General's latest memorandum (asking for a clarification of the U.N. position) should be confined to concrete issues of limited scope.

LAW REPORTS

THE JERUSALEM POST

February 10, 1954

In the Supreme Court Sitting as High Court of Justice Before Justices Oshanim (Acting President), Sussman and Landau. Puhim Salim Zarik, Appellant, v. Sgan-Aluf A. Cohen and others, Respondents. (HC 152/53)

APPLICATION AGAINST EXCLUSION ORDER DISMISSED.

The High Court yesterday dismissed an order against the Military Governor of Galilee and refused an application to revoke an exclusion order against seven villagers from El Aluz in the Tiberias District.

In the early hours of October 31, 1953, two Scouts from the village of El Aluz set fire to the house of the Secretary of the local Communist Party, a member of the Zarik family. In this fire a 17-year-old member of the Zarik family was burnt to death. A murder charge is now pending against the two Scouts. The next day, members of the Zarik family burnt down the house belonging to one of the Scouts.

These two events set off a vendetta between the two families concerned, resulting in a succession of retaliatory acts, including the cutting-down of trees, the ploughing-up of cultivated lands and the attempted strangling of a member of the Zarik family by five of the Scouts. The Military Governor issued repeated warnings to both sides and used his good offices to effect a reconciliation. His efforts proved vain due mainly to the recalcitrance of the Zarik family.

Eventually, in August 1953, he expelled seven members of the Zarik family to Jaffa for one year, in accordance with the powers vested in him by Sections 108 and 110 of the Emergency Defence Regulations.

As a result of this expulsion order the applicant applied for an order nisi against the Military Governor and others calling upon them to show cause why this order should not be cancelled.

On the first return day, January 18, 1954, after hearing both sides, the Court ruled that the Military Governor, Sgan-Aluf Cohen, had absolute discretion in the matter of expulsion orders and that he was not bound to intervene only if it were proved that he had used this discretion arbitrarily and in bad faith. The applicant was permitted to produce evidence of this at a date to be fixed by the Registrar. The Court declared further that in the interests of justice and with the express agreement of the State Attorney it would allow the applicant to cross-examine Sgan-Aluf Cohen at the postponed hearing despite the fact that this cross-examination should by rights have taken place at an earlier stage of the proceedings.

Final Hearing
The final hearing of the application took place on February 8. Under a cross-examination, Sgan-Aluf Cohen reviewed the facts of the case and the evidence of the village during the period October 1953 to August 1953 and declared that the chances of effecting a settlement were small.

Rabbis Lead Protest Against N.Y. Consulate
NEW YORK, Tuesday (UP). — A chanting, booing crowd of 2,000 men gathered in a disorderly manner in front of the Israeli Consulate yesterday, protesting the conscription of women in Israel.

The Consul General, Mr. Avraham Harman, did not emerge from the building. A spokesman said he would take no notice of the crowd. Whenever any person appeared at the door or windows of the building, those in the crowd let out lusty boos.
